WE NOMINATE

Richard Whitmore Van Wagenen, a transplanted 40-year old Coloradoan, whose interests and background made him an ideal choice for director of one of the country's most unusual research agencies—Princeton University's Center for Research on World Political Institutions, a part of the Woodrow Wilson School. In an age when total war could destroy industrial society and democratic institutions in general, Van Wagenen and his associates are doing everything within their power to apply modern instruments of research and scholarship in a "renewed attack upon the old but crucial problem of how to minimize the risk of war by substituting the rule of law among nations."

It was in June, 1950, some three weeks before North Korean troops wheeled across the 38th Parallel to invade the Republic of South Korea, that Van Wagenen's Princeton appointment was announced. Against this dismal back-drop, with the invaders disregarding the United Nations' order to withdraw and with the United Nations seeking armed assistance, he set about organizing a Center dedicated to inquiring into the best means of making existing international institutions more effective and working for still stronger political institutions at the world level.

To laymen, bewildered by the way in which an uneasy peace had crumbled into war, the undertaking seemed impossible and certainly "Ivory Tower-ish." To Van Wagenen, for two years Deputy U. S. Secretary of the Allied Control Authority for Germany, it came as a challenge at a time when this country was buying time to build the foundations of peace. The Center issued its first statement in the fall of 1950, a statement recently amplified by Van Wagenen in a survey that accentuates just how little men know about the relationship between such international organizations such as the UN and the forces that bind men together into nation-states.

Van Wagenen has made political science his life-work since completing his undergraduate and advanced training at Stanford University. Engaged in researches in local and state government in the late 1930's and a Yale instructor at the outbreak of the war, he taught gunnery in the Army's Field Artillery School until tapped for specialization in Military Government. His experiences in Berlin only hardened his convictions about the vital need for probing ever deeper into the study of men's habits of outlook and conduct.

For seeking ways of bridging the gap between existing institutions and stronger international institutions; for urging social scientists to concentrate the full candlepower of their research upon the struggle for peace; for envisioning the possibility of having statesmen and scholars reinforce each other's efforts; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

Report on School Tax Rates. Princeton's taxpayers will have to wait another month or more before they learn their 1953 tax rates but a preliminary indication of the factors that help determine them was made public this week. In the borough, the school tax rate faces an increase of nearly 10 points; in the township, where the school rate rose last year by nearly 70 points, "a substantial drop" is anticipated.

Dr. William S. Carpenter, chairman of the budget committee in the township, told TOWN TOPICS that the exact size of the decrease could not be determined until the board of education approves the reductions he will recommend at its January meeting this Thursday night, and that final ratification by the voters must follow next month. He did not feel in a position to estimate the drop in terms of tax points, but was confident that a marked reduction in school costs will be achieved this year.

The borough increase is due almost entirely to the board of education's understandable belief that higher salaries are again needed for its teachers. Virtually all of the $53,400 boost in the budget over last year's figure will go toward a general increase of $300 annually (effective next September); a few minor adjustments in individual cases; and the creation of two new positions to meet increased registration at the elementery level.

Of the additional dollars needed—which send the total budget past the three-quarter of a million dollar mark—$24,000 will come from tuition and $2,400 from state funds. The balance, $26,000, will be raised in taxes if the voters approve the budget at the district election of February 10.

Yet to come were reports on the other two factors determining each municipality's rate—its own and the county's—but increases were anticipated in each instance, with a preliminary county report listing a boost of 20 points. Rates for the past year: borough, 4.64; township, 5.19.

The League of Women Voters has urged residents of both municipalities to give thought to the question of nominating candidates for the two school boards. There are three borough and four township vacancies.

Men and women 21 and over are eligible and must have lived in the district for three years. The dead line for filing petitions (ten signatures required) is January 21.

Weather Report for '52. The year that ended last week was both wetter (by 10 inches of rainfall) and warmer (by 2.4 degrees) than normal. Some 50 inches of rain came to the Princeton area, much of it in August, when nearly seven inches were recorded. In contrast, the 17 inches of snow during 1952 were only a little more than half the average expectancy.

Other incidental intelligence: January 30 (when the thermometer fell to seven) was the year's coldest day; June 26 was the hottest—the mercury hitting an even 100. The year's windiest day was October 2 (49 miles per hour) and the number of thunderstorms from March to October was 35. July, baking the community in an average tempera-

Adult School to Open. The 11th season of the Princeton Adult School will open Thursday, January 22, and will run for ten consecutive Thursday nights. Registration dates are next Thursday and Friday at the Nassau Street School.

A total of 25 courses will be offered this winter, including some of the old favorites and a number of interesting new subjects. Full information will be found in the advertisement on page 8.

Archer and Salzman Named. John A. Archer has been elected president of the borough council and will serve as acting mayor whenever P. MacKay Stunges is out of town for more than 72 hours. All officials have been reappointed, with Borough Clerk Robert F. Mooney beginning a 12-day term before he starts permanent tenure next Monday.

In Princeton Township, Mayor Albert Salzman was re-elected chairman of the governing body. All officials were named to serve again, and Morris Maple, a former borough councilman and now a township resident, was appointed to a three-year term on the board of adjustment.

Debate on Consolidation. Princeton's two service clubs will hold a joint meeting Tuesday night at 6:45 at the Nassau Tavern to hear a debate on the subject of consolidation. The Rev. Dr. William L. Tucker, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church and a member of the Lions Club, will serve as moderator.

Speaking in favor of municipal merger will be Dr. William Miller, Director of Research at Princeton Surveys and a faculty member at N.Y.U. law school. Dr. William S. Carpenter, Professor of Politics at Princeton and chairman of the Committee to Oppose Consolidation, will express his beliefs. Attendance will be limited to members and guests.

Consolidation will also be the topic at the January 19 meeting of the Princeton Business Association, to be preceded by a buffet supper at the Nassau Tavern. A member of the Committee for Consolidation will speak, and group discussion will follow.

Cloudy Picture. Dr. Charles R. Erdman, Jr., six-time mayor of Princeton and now Commissioner of the Department of Economic Development, has announced that he is not yet ready to say whether he will run for governor. His candidacy was advanced last month by the Princeton Republican Club.

Commissioner Erdman has reported many telephone calls and letters asking his plans but does not feel that he wishes to make his decision now. He added, "While it seems unlikely that all the elements in the Republican party will unite on a candidate as they did in 1943 behind Walter Edge, I want to allow for this possibility before further clouding the gubernatorial picture."

Latest to "cloud" it: Assemblyman Fred E. Shepard of Union County, Elizabeth attorney who was first elected to the legislature in 1938. The gate that could spring as many as a dozen entries into the field may open next Tuesday with an announcement by Governor Driscoll that he will not seek re-election.

Slate Announced. The Social Service Bureau, which will hold its annual meeting January 19 at 8 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church, has named this slate of candidates for office: Gordon Griffing, president; C. Littleton Groom, vice-president; Mrs. Margaret Dorman, chairman of the Family Service Committee; Mrs. Richard Lindabury, chairman of the Visiting Nurse Committee; Mrs. Paul S. Smith, chairman of the Mental Hygiene Clinic; Mrs. J. Douglas

It's New to Us

Put It On Your Back. If Santa's bounty extended to a Christmas check, now is the time to cash in. Clothes for winter or spring vacationing can do a redecorating job on any wardrobe, and the shops will welcome you with new advance styles.

At Mayme Mead, 188 Nassau, you may look over a collection that ranges from spring suits in wool to the finest lightweight silk shantung. Davidow has sent the suits. They are woven as fine as a silk dress, light and soft as a pussy-willow.

The colors are greyed blues, a pale rose, deeper blue-purple, and a straight-forward navy. Some suits are cuffed, some have belts, all are made with the meticulous tailoring you associate with Davidow. (They have those Davidow price-tags, too, but think of the investment. You'll wear your suit for years.)

Incidentally, these suits are made with longer jackets for tall girls, with shorter proportions for small girls, and regular sizes for that mythical "average."

McMullen is another famous name at Mayme Mead. This house makes the same classic shirtwaist dress every single springtime. This year, the dress has a slightly different pocket arrangement, but its basic lines are still there.

Linens and cottons from McMullen, too, one in powder blue with white butterflies embroidered on it. The price-tag is fascinating: $69.95. (How big was that Christmas check?)

Moderate prices on other cottons, starting at $10.95 and going to $15.95. These are well-made dresses, designed with style. We liked one with deep rust stripes, set horizontally against a navy background. A russet scarf tucks in the V-neck.

In this same price bracket is a pale lemon cotton with black tracery, and a rustly cotton that ties on the shoulder, with a jacket to cover you up until you get a tan to show off. Trim is blue and white gingham.

Toppers go to Florida or off on a cruise. One is white and soft, another is houndstooth check in yellow or a shy blue. You'll wear these next summer, too.

I Wanna Come, Too! You would not leave your child behind, would you? Take her around to Lillian Bellows, 20 Nassau, for sand clothes she can wear off the beach as well. These are everglazed cotton "Peter Pans." Characters from the Barrie story cavort around the bottom of the skirt and the playsuit. There is a Peter Pan collar to round it all out.

The playsuit has elasticized straps and waistline, in a dark navy print trimmed in old gold. Skirt band is elasticized, too.

Another style features a petal skirt over plain-color bloomers. It's a kind of Oriental print, quite tropical looking, the kind of thing that "never shows the dirt."

"Never - Never Island" is the name of a group of playclothes in navy and white. Besides skirts, playsuits and shirts, there's a sleeveless terry robe, banded in the Brown, Mrs. Daniel Pierce, Jr., Dr. Jonathan Howland and Chester R. Stoup, directors for three-year terms.

Mrs. Jess Epstein, chairman of the nominating committee, has been assisted by Mrs. Herbert Langfeld and Tristam Johnson. Nominations may be made from the floor and the meeting is open to the public.

Discussion Panel. The Men's Association of the First Presbyterian Church will hold a dinner meeting Tuesday at 6:30 to which all men of the community are invited. A panel discussion is planned on "The Protestant Attitude Toward the Bible."

Dilman M. K. Smith will serve as chairman of the meeting, with Prof. T. Cuyler Young leading the discussion. Other panel members will be Clark H. Bricker, Ernest F. Johnson, Jr., William H. Schiede and Dr. J. Kendall Wallis.

Unit Meetings Planned. A series of neighborhood meetings on the subject of the New Jersey State Tax System, with particular emphasis on the proposal to provide $60,000,000 in State Aid to School Districts, will be sponsored next week by the League of Women Voters. All residents of the community are invited to attend any one of them.

The league points out that under the present tax structure, those who own property pay 92% of the cost of county and local government, and that an individual owning a million dollars in securities pays tax free unless he is a property owner. The State School Aid Commission is recommending that the $60,000,000 it proposes be raised through "either a sales tax, a personal income tax or some combination of these with a corporate income tax."

The time and place of the meetings: Monday, 8:15 p.m., Mrs. Gerald Breese, 65 Olden Avenue; Tuesday, 8:15 p.m., Mrs. William Abrams, 35 University Place; Wednesday, 10 a.m., Mrs. Richard Lesley, 121 Broadmead; Wednesday, 8.15 p.m., Miss Hetty Goldman, 2 Newlin Road; Thursday, January 15, 1:15 p.m., Mrs. Alan Carrick, Prospect Avenue and Cedar Lane.

Business Women to Meet. The Business and Profesional Women's Club will hold its January meeting Monday night at 8 at Avalon, with members seeing a travelog in color of a trip through France, Italy and Switzerland. Hostesses for the Education and Vocations Committee will be Mrs. Jean Martin, Miss Winifred Douglas, Mrs. Elizabeth Cameron and Miss Myrtle Hensor.

All members are urged to attend and to bring guests. They are also reminded of the State Board meeting Saturday, January 17, at the Hotel Douglas, Newark.

Miscellany. Additional gifts to the TOWN TOPICS Christmas fund have sent the total to $2,382.89. The child for whom the funds were raised was placed in an approved privately-run home last week.

Frank's Sport Shop, 170 Nassau Street, was robbed Saturday of two shot guns, numerous rounds of ammunition, hunting knives and a hunting coat. The burglar broke through the plateglass front door about 3:30 a.m., police report, listing the loss as in excess of $300.

The first 1953 baby at Princeton Hospital, a girl, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Preyer, 26 Jefferson Road. The first boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lichterman, 235 Harrison Street. Other New Year's Day arrivals were sons to Mr. and Mrs. George Olive, 253 Nassau Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Green, 28 Birch Avenue; daughters to Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lapidus, 413-B Butler Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Evert, 218-D Harrison Street.

News of the Theatres

McCARTER THEATRE

The Adventures of Remi will be presented by the Suzari Marionettes at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in McCarter. Adapted from a story by the French writer Hector Malot, "Sans Famille," the play concerns an orphan who becomes a minstrel and eventually finds his mother.

The presentation is the third in a series of programs for children sponsored by the Elementary Schools P.T.A. Tickets may be obtained through Mrs. Oscar Sussman, 149 Westcott Road (tel. 3647) or at the box office the day of the performance.

THE PLAYHOUSE

April in Paris (Thurs.-Sat.) is a typically cheerful musical in which the story is of little consequence and no one really cares. The main features of the film are the performances of Ray Bolger and Doris Day, who sing and dance with considerable enthusiasm. The gay dancing in Technicolor settings, a flock of tunes and dash of satire add up to a pleasant if unexceptional movie.

The Happy Time (Sun.-Tues.) has a refreshing comedy approach along with a good deal of wit and sparkle. The story deals with a happy-go-lucky French-Canadian family whose male members have a robust appreciation of the opposite sex. Linda Christian becomes the center of attention from Louis Jourdan, Bobby Driscoll and Charles Boyer, among others. The film holds fairly close to the stage hit of the same name and is played with high spirit.

My Cousin Rachel (Wed.-Sat.) features plenty of brooding emotions and dark romantic moods, most of which could be classified as obscure. Based on a novel by Daphne Du Maurier, the title character (played by Olivia de Haviland) appears to make a habit of charming various gentlemen into marriage and then disposing of them in order to get her hands on their worldly possessions. On the heavy but unimportant side, the film is helped by Miss de Haviland's able performance.

THE GARDEN

Battle Zone (Fri.-Sat.) is a fairly responsible job of portraying the Korean War through the Marine Corps eyes and cameras. John Hodiak and Stephen McNally as combat photographers for the Corps compete professionaly and for Linda Christian as well. The action includes the Inchon landing and a big offensive.

Suez (Mon.-Tues.) portrays in routine Hollywood fashion the digging of the great canal. Liberal amounts of melodramatics are included in the reissue, which features Tyrone Power, Loretta Young and Annabella.

Cairo Road (Wed.-Thurs.) is an uneven, occasionally exciting, British venture into the bountiful plot material furnished by the dope trade. Eric Portman, Laurence Harvey and Maria Mauban have the leading roles in the murder-intrigue.

The Turning Point (Fri.-Sat.) is a crime probe special, a la Kefauver. The story deals with the efforts of an idealistic investigator to rid a large city of racketeers, and even includes televised examinations of witnesses. The investigator's father turns out to be a gang tool, but most of the complications are of the conventional screen sort. William Holden, Edmond O'Brien and Alexis Smith head the cast.

SPORTS IN PRINCETON

Contrasting Streaks. Princeton's hockey and basketball teams continued to move in opposite directions during their respective holiday tournaments. The Tiger quintet, taking one of its worst toboggan rides in years, dropped its fifth in a row and its seventh of the season Monday, going down before Villanova, 72 to 65. Losing all three of its games in the Dixie Classic by wide margins, the Orange and Black wound up last at Raleigh in a field of eight.

The hockey forces, on the other hand, are away to their best start since the war. In the Rensselaer Polytech Tournament at Troy, N. Y., last weekend, they took two of three games and were then declared the champions on a basis of total goals. Dick Vaughan's skaters conquered Yale, 1952 Pentagonal champion, 4-2, and St. Patrick's of Canada, 6-4, before losing to R.P.I Saturday night, 5-4.

Bill Gall, wing on the first line, was the offensive star for the Princetonians, accounting for five of the Tiger goals. He scored twice against the Elis and twice against R.P.I., while Tom Davis netted a pair against St. Patrick's (which is based in his home town of Ottawa) and Captain Hank Bothfeld weighed with two against R.P.I.

The Tigers had a 3-0 bulge on Yale before the Elis finally beat Blair Torrey in the third period. Gall then added his second of the night to make it 4-1 and the Blue scored once more in the closing seconds.

St. Patrick's took a 2-1 lead toward the end of the opening round but Bill Bancroft counted for the Nassau sextet to even the scoring before the period ended. Gall and Davis then racked up three inside of ten minutes and Princeton coasted to one of its few victories over a Canadian outfit.

Saturday night saw R.P.I. (over which the Tigers held an earlier 2-1 victory) move out to a 4-0 margin before the Nassau outfit caught fire. With ten minutes to go, Princeton poured four goals into the nets to deadlock the contest but yielded one more to drop a close battle. Bothfeld and Torrey were named to the all-star team selected from the four competing colleges.

A strong Boston University team will play here Saturday afternoon at 2, with the contest certain to be worth watching. The Massachusetts six lost a 6-5 overtime contest to Harvard Saturday but has been mowing down other opposition in the New England area. The Crimson, incidentally, is the for the losers with 15 points. Four Princetonians (Fred Tritschler, Reutlinger, Bud Hasbestad and Phil Zuravleff) fouled out as the Tigers outshot the Mainliners from the floor (24 field goals to 23) and lost on the foul line.

While one of Cappy Cappon's teams should never be counted out, there appears to be little hope for the Tiger basketball team in its next two outings. Unbeaten Navy will be here this Friday night at 8, sporting one of the highest scoring teams in the nation. In six games, the middies have averaged better than 92 points, although with the exception of Yale, the teams, it has beaten are not particularly able. John Clune paces the strong Navy quintet with a 22.5 average.

Penn will be here Wednesday to open the Tigers' defense of their 1952 Eastern League title. The Quakers offer Dick Heylmun and sophomore Bob Leach as the principal member of Ernie Beck's supporting cast and appear to have far too much balance for the still floundering Tiger quintet. Penn is not a powerhouse without Beck, however, losing to Yale, 76-64, Tuesday without his services. He figures to play here Wednesday after a bout with the flu.

Action on Other Fronts. Other Other winter sports teams will go into action during the coming week. The wrestlers take on Rutgers in Dillon Gym Saturday at 2, with the fencing team traveling to meet the Scarlet in New Brunswick. Howie Stepp's swimmers face Columbia here Wednesday at 8:30 and go to Annapolis for another league meet next Saturday.

School basketball teams will also renew their campaigns after the holiday break. Princeton High will take on Long Branch in the shore quintet's gym Friday and then entertains Hun School next Wednesday afternoon. The Red and Black travels to meet George School Saturday in its first post-vacation contest.

Tennis Monday Night. The much-publicized Australian tennis stars, Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, will play in Dillon Gym Monday night at 8, opening their barnstorming trip throughout the nation after appearing in Madison Square Garden this weekend. Sedgman, world's top amateur and holder of this country's singles title as well as his own, will meet Jack Kramer, top professional player. McGregor will play Pancho Segura (whose two-handed shots are particularly spectacular), with a doubles match to follow.

Canadians Win. Trinity College School of Ontario, which won its games by scores of 8-0, 3-0 and 6-1, swept to the championship in the fifth annual Lawrenceville Hockey Tournament in Baker Rink last weekend. Nichols School of Buffalo was the runner up.

Noble and Greenough was third and Belmont Hill, last year's champion, won the consolation round for fourth place. A crowd of about 1,000 saw the title contest Saturday afternoon.

has been mowing down other opposition in the New England area. The Crimson, incidentally, is the choice to succeed Yale as Pentagonal champion.

A trip to West Point Wednesday to meet Army and a Boston College game the following Saturday will round out Princeton's activities before the two-week examination break. The Tigers are now 5-2 for the season and a good bet to take any given team they will meet for the rest of the season.

Four Straight Defeats. In the Dixie Classic, the basketball team lost on successive days to North Carolina State, 87-63; to North Carolina, 73-59; and to Duke, 74-59. Paced by All-American Ernie Beck (who hit for 47 in one contest and last week was the nation's scoring leader with a 30-per-game average), Pennsylvania took two of three, trimming both Duke and North Carolina.

Against Villanova, the Tigers improved markedly to the extent that they were ahead at half time over a team which has won 49 straight on its own floor. The Tigers' margin was 39-37 but the Wildcats drew even at the end of the third period and went on to win from there. Don Marshall, who has broken into the lineup at the expense of Don Reutlinger, was high print. Lots of high style in these little fashionables.

Boys' trunks are here, too. They are made of Anderson gingham. I ke the shirts poppa likes to wear.

How's Your TV Top? If it's bare, consider a planter lamp, designed for just this purpose, and sold at The Flower Basket, 136 Nassau. These lamps are made of open-work brass. One is a cylinder, one a square.

Inside is a glass container for your plant. Between the glass and the brass. The light globe is under the bowl and the light glows out through the green. Prices are about $7 and $8, depending on shape and size.

A fancier version is a rectangle with an electric clock on one side and the planter on the other. This one is $17.50 plus tax. There's a horseman on top, by the way.

Another planter, for table or buffet, is made of brushed brass. It's a pair of candlesticks with a glass planter bowl in the center. If you don't want ivy trailing on your placemats, you could put candy in the bowl. Qute versatile. Stands around 12 inches high and sells for $10.95.

Even if you haven't a green thumb, you could grow flowers from the soiless plant balls they have at The Flower Basket. Cosmos, petunias, sweet peas, zinnias—take your pick.

The ball is the size of a baseball. You stick it in a bowl of water, keep it wet, and stand by to pick the flowers. Balls are 25 cents to 75 cents—depends on the size and kind of flower. Might be fun for children to watch, in a winter window.

Pearly opalescent clothespins in a variety of pastel colors, won't snag your stockings, won't split apart, and are tough enough to hold anything. (They have a spring.)

At Home. Now, back to that Christmas check . . . At Leigh's, 108 Nassau, we found a set of pajamas and scuffs, all tucked into a traveling case, for only $7.

The pajamas have black rayon pants and a short - sleeved, high collared jacket that comes in red, blue, or yellow print on pale grey. It's a soft, supple rayon that has been used, surprisingly enough, to form the quilted carrying case, and the quilted scuffs as well. The case has an extra pocket too—for handkerchiefs, or such.

Ever think your nose could hold on a pair of ear-muffs? Wait until you see the combination of ear-muffs and goggles they have at Leigh's. Muffs are bright and furry; from them come the ear-pieces of the goggles, so you see it's really your nose that holds the muffs.

Goggles are unbreakable plastic, some smoked some clear, with colored plastic frames. Quite an eye-catcher. (Ear-catcher, too.)

Lined Strings. Devotees of the string glove usually wait until spring and summer. Now they can indulge the year around. At Clayton's, Palmer Square, they have some strings made in Italy and lined with 100 percent wool knit.

Red or yellow, in small, medium and large for $2.95. The lining is snugly knit—you could wear these gloves comfortably in real "weath-
